Necrophobic, Blood Anthem

Soon it is time to join the immortals I strike on command, defeat leads me forward Dust in the air, the bitter taste Of death in my mouth, soon I'll be there

I am but one of thousands to go
The beast in my heart is all that I know
I slay to the ground all that I see
Death by my hand is all that will be

Up in the sky circling above us Awaiting our death, awaiting our fall The carnivores smile, the shadow of death A vulture all black, but I have no fear

Soon it is me who is stabbed to the ground My soul flying free, my spirit unbound The greeting of death as my life fades away Left on the ground my limbs to decay

Bloodhymns now loud and clear Bloodhymns as life disappears

As I stand by the sea of blood And bodies raped by silence I hear the souls, the immortal ones Sing a hymn for the dying

A new day will dawn and I will be gone The blood that is spilled will dry in the sun The sadest of songs still in the air The anthem of blood will always be there

Wherever I go I still will be blind Whatever they do, I'll always be numb Infest my soul, devour my flesh Scatter my dreams, only hatred is left
