

Nemesea, Angel In The Dark

A dream so real it takes her back She's falling into her own past
The present has gone forever Now she rests upon her bed and then she cries... and then she feels... she feels so sad Lost in memories
she tries to fade away but fails
The darkness overrules the sky
She keeps on screaming: "Tell me why!"
When will the light take over these dark days
And will she ever wake and know it is all a lie?
Her eyes are closing slowly
The pain increases everyday She wanted to fight but walked away and now there's nothing left to say She used to live, she used to give She always enjoyed life the way it was meant But clouds they came and played their game Casting a spell so she'd fade away
But will she stand up to fight and protect her life
Be what she wanted to be... an Angel in the dark Her dreams are taking over The puzzle remains a mystery
But she ought to know by now it's just imaginary