

Neon Stereo & Marcie, Love From nothing

LOVE FROM NOTHING

day light hits me in the face i dont know how I got to this place dont know how you became an addiction you tried hard to push me away i cried hard every single day soon enough, this pain became my religion

-

Im trying to relate but Im stuck on something trying to create some love from nothing searching for a smile on an empty face Im trying to reclaim this world from sufferin but you keep saying that its all for nothing and I dont think that I can go on this way

-

half measures were easier to take just pretending that it was OK got me through a few of the days and then some I know that dreams die hard and Im sure that its not your fault but I wish we werent torn apart cuz we had love.