

Neulander, People's Love

Dipping toes into the blue
Upside down
Looking for you
I know you exist, but you love hiding
For the longest time
I felt myself sliding
You can tell not everybody knows
When love hits, there is no more pretend

I just wanted to say
I was so wrong in so many different ways
Now I've past what I could not see
Nothing matters and maybe I'll be free
You can tell not everybody knows
When love hits, there is no more pretend

Strange to give a name to what I really feel
Inside out, looking for you
I know you exist, but you love hiding
For the longest time
I felt myself sliding
You can tell not everybody knows
When love hits, there is no more pretend
You can tell not everybody knows
You can tell not everybody knows
You can tell not everybody knows
You can tell not everybody knows