

Neverending White Lights, Ending Of A Story

Tearing off your life support
Wasting all your days
Words can fill your soul but all your pages turn away

And at your worst,
Your stars will fall and burst

You need this time to make amends
Is what you want

The ending of a story?

Graceful angels hold you right
Like I never could
Take your place in satellites
Leave us all for good
And in the end, I die and you descend

You need this time to make amends
Your life is more, more than this
Is what you want more than this
Is what you want

The ending of a story?