

Neverending White Lights, From What I Once Wa

Would you settle for a wasted life?
We can't always belong to a place in time

Come along for the ride let them take you inside
No one wants to wait anymore
Come along for the ride let them take you inside

And all my thoughts wrapped up in neverending white lights and celestial beings parting ways with losing faith in life

Too afraid tonight to lie awake
And in my thoughts there are ways of getting lost
