New Amsterdams, I Won't Run Away

1...2....3....4

Walk away the day must leave you behind Like we waltzed around the words so many times we remind the time when motions will repeat but the distance doesn't finalize defeat

so it goes

there's a weight that never seems to let it go and i'm passing through the atmoshpere like smoke

On the way the day afraid from time to time every anecdote i live gets written down every letter ever sent her does remind that our memories are always on my mind

So it stays

wait for the world to stop and i won't run away wait for the world to stop and i won't run away wait for the world to stop and i won't run away at least not today
