

New Buffalo, I'm The Drunk And You're The Star

It all comes down / it all comes down It all comes down to what you do to what you learn to what you say
to what you wear
to what you make
to what you shake

you cried your eyes out when I was gone you want the truth / well here you are I'm the drunk and your the star

so much happiness in longing for what you are longing for what you are / and what you could be

it all comes down to how you care and how you share for what you say for when your there
to what you make

you want the truth / well here you are
I'm the drunk and your the star

oh you are longing for what you love longing for what you love your longing for what you want to be
