

New Faces, Lace Covered Window

When you walk through the world all alone
And your dreams turn to ashes behind you
Then the tears in your eyes will remind you
Of a view through the lace covered window

I can't see very clear any more
In your world everything is uncertain
How you wish you could pull back the curtain
Just to see through that lace covered window
See the world through that lace covered window

But you never know just what life has in store
What's waiting there to greet you
So pull back the curtain and may be once more True love is there to greet you

So we walk side by side through the world
No more times full of darkness and sorrow
Everyday it's a bright new tomorrow
When you open that lace covered window

oooooooooooo
oooooooooooo

Everyday it's a bright new tomorrow
When you open that lace covered window
Let the sun through that lace covered window