

New Years Day, Frequently Baby

frequently baby im changing my mind running around with you searching your eyes for an answer or something true
But when I turn around to get you you gone and run away I'll kiss you goodbye if I thought it would make you stay

Cause my white Flag is Waving in the air in the Hopes that you will see What a fool idea to pass up what you're offerin' to me

I need to find a way
I need to find a reason
surrender in your arms collapse as you take over me
I need to find a way
I need to find a reason
I need to find a place to rest my head
And bring your heart back to my bed im all for you..

Im missing these words fighting for a change
And letting down, memories look so sad We try to hold onto days that we wished we had This was supposed to be my hit song but I wasted it all on you tomorrow is near and Im not gonna waste it too

Cause my white Flag is Waving in the air with the Hopes that you will see What a fool idea to pass up what you're offering me

I need to find a way
I need to find a reason
surrender in your arms collapse as you take over me
I need to find a way
I need to find a reason
I need to find a place to rest my head
and bring your heart back to my bed
im all for you...