Viviane
I will love you till the last nail has been driven in

Viviane
Till we disappear hand in hand into oblivian (sic)

Oh Viviane
I will love you until the void delivers us from this world we're living in

Oh oh Viviane
I love you until the ghost of your smile grows faint and withering

Viviane
You are my heroin, my aspirin, my insulin

Viviane
The winds of change are blowing and I am shivering....

(...the rest (if indeed there is any more) is obscured.)
