

Nicki Minaj, Autobiography

This is the autobiography of Nicki Minaj...

[Chorus:]

May the lord protect me as the world gets hectic

My voice projected my life reflected

Daddy was a crack feind 2 in the morning had us running down the street like a track team

[Verse 1:]

When he burnt the house down n my mother was in it

How could I forget it the, pain infinite

Shes my queen and I ain't even british

Shes the only reason that I went to school and I finished

She told me that I had talent

Got on her knees and prayed for me when I started being violent

She saw something in me that, until this day I don't know if I could be dat

But I'm a die tryin and when I'm done cryin

Grab the iron

And black out like I'm retiring

Nightmares of you killing my mother

The reason that I sleep with my head under the covers

N shoulda thrown a book at, ch'you cause I hate you so much that it burn when I look at ch'you

[Chorus: x2]

May the lord protect me as the world gets hectic my voice projected my life reflected

[Verse 2:]

Damn I wanna run to you

Hold you n kiss you tell you how I miss you

Thought I would have a son for you

But now it's official it's over and I can't let you go

But I gotta let you know all the shit I did make it feel like I'm dyin real slow, cause no one understand

You was my friend and my man and my daddy,

You was there when that bitch tried to stab me anything I ever needed knew you had me

Cause of you all them chicks could'ntstand me

So why hurt you that's the question

It took this long for me to learn my lesson

Cause now all I want is peace and get drama

I finally understand the true meaning of karma

[Chorus: x2]

May the lord protect me as the world gets hectic my voice projected my life reflected

Please baby forgive me, mommy was young, mommy was to busy tryna have fun now I pat myself

I adhear to the nonsense listened to people who told me I wasn't ready for you

But how the fuck would they know wat I was ready to do

And of course it wasn't your fault

It's like I feel it in the air, I hear you sayin mommy don't cry can't you see I'm right here I gotta let yo
