What will you do when the whiskey's done?

Hey, ho, my Johnny.

What will you do when the whiskey's done?

Hey, ho, my Johnny-O.

What will you do when the whiskey's done?

"Sit by the fire and drink hot rum."

Johnny is a lad who likes his fun;

Johnny is a roving blade.

Johnny is a roving blade,

Johnny is a roving blade;

Johnny is a roving blade,

Johnny is a roving blade;

What will you do in the summer-time?

Hey, ho, my Johnny.

What will you do in the summer-time?

Hey, ho, my Johnny-O.

What will you do in the summer-time?

"Drink cold beer and blood-red wine;
When the weather's fine, it'll suit me fine."

Johnny is a roving blade.

What will you do if your true love goes?

Hey, ho, my Johnny.

What will you do if your true love goes?

Hey, ho, my Johnny-O.

What will you do if your true love goes?

"any other flower is sweet as a rose;
Plenty more in the garden grows."

Johnny is a roving blade.

What will you do when you come to die?

Hey, ho, my Johnny.

What will you do when you come to die?

Hey, ho, my Johnny-O.

What will you do when you come to die?

"Look St. Peter in the eye
And tell him that I'm very dry."

Johnny is a roving blade.
