

Nightfall, Swollen

Swollen

Empty soul in an empty place

Have forlorn your adorable face

I know the one close to me is not the one you wish to be

Shut the door remain alone

Cold and ice, what perfect lies

I know the one close to me is not the one you wished to be

Father I got more to tell you, wait

I can only blame you for keeping away

The secret of life since birth of time

Rapid though again in front

All alone, tremendous fall

I know the one close to me is not the one you wish to be

Shiny face off left for good

Touch the deepest fade of blue

I know the one close to me is not the one you wished to be

Happiness, I wanna feel how it feels like

Misery takes on me each time

I try hard to resist

But seems I am already in the belly of the beast