

Nikola Sarcevic, Lovetrap

I know you met someone last night see it in your eyes you said "we only talked, alright?" now that's a big lie and I know it's all over now I guess we lost our love somehow the moment you left through that door I know you'll never come back here no more you came and took your things today gave me your ring back I never thought it'd end this way fell in your lovetrap

and I know it's all over now
I guess we lost our love somehow
the moment you left through that door
I know you'll never come back here no more

you said you're never coming back home you got me choking now that's a typical syndrome when a heart gets broken broken, oh yeah cos I know it's all over now I guess we lost our love somehow

the moment you left through that door
I know you'll never come back here no more

it's all over now
we lost our love somehow and you left through that door now you'll never come back here no more

it's all over now
we lost our love somehow you left through that door and I know you'll never come back here no more cos it's all over now

it's all over now