Nina Simone, Why Keep On Breaking My Heart

why keep on breaking my heart? when it's beating for you only you why do you toy with my dreams they're depending on you to come true when you invaded my mind you took over complete control then i surrender to you all my dreams, my heart and soul please say there's a chance some day you may feel just the way that i do but why keep on breaking my heart when it's beating for you only you why keep on breaking my heart when it's beating for you only you