Nixons, Sister

Here I am again, Overwhelming feelings A thousand miles away From your ocean home Part of me is near

Thoughts of what we were invade The miles that stand between We can't separate You're all I hoped you'd become

Sister I see you Dancing on the stage Of memory Sister I miss you

Fleeting visits pass Still they satisfy Reminders of the next Overshadow goodbye Our flames burn as one

Sister I see you Dancing on the stage Of memory Sister I miss you

All I am begins with you Thoughts of hope understood Half of me begins in you Thoughts of love remain true

Here we are again saying goodbye Still we'll fall asleep underneath the same sky You're all I knew you'd become

Sister I see you Dancing on the stage Of memory Sister I miss you

Entwined, you and I Our souls speak from across the miles Intertwined, you and I Our blood flows from the same inside Half of me, begins with you Thoughts of love remain true

I see you, I feel you When I close my eyes I see walking there... I see you dancing in my mind