

Nixons, You Were Meant For Me

Sometimes I wonder why were all here
Everything and everyone seems... so unclear
Everyone pretending and acting so cool
Don't realize they're really the fool
I know we'd make it if we all just tried
It's all we really want to know
Want to pose as everything inside
Don't tell me it's not so
And you were meant for me
Tell me tell me can't you see
There's nothing left for me to say
You took my heart and ran away
And you... were meant for me
Remember all the times we had
It's so easy to look back
Time spent giving dreams away
Lovers living day to day
Ignorance was so intacted
I know you're feeling just the same
And you were meant for me
Tell me tell me can't you see
You took my heart and ran away
And... you were meant... for me
Maybe time is not our friend
Every story has it mend
But it's so hard to just let go
Of something that you care for so
We can just sit back and just pretend
I know you're feeling just the same
Cause you were meant for me
Tell me tell me can't you see
You took my heart and ran away
You... were meant for... me
You took my heart and ran away
It's so hard to just let go
Of something that you care for so
Time spent giving dreams away
Lovers living... day to day
And you were meant for me
Tell me tell me can't you see
You took my heart and ran away
I can't... believe the things that you said
You were meant for me
Meant for me
You were meant for
Meant for... me
