No Address, Lasting Words

I met a girl from Brownsville she kamikaze head-turn got me into a frill, I told her about my friends back home what they'd say-

How she spoke

Lasting Words in the lasting night and every time I see a boat by a lake I want to jump up and say let's row away from everything.

Said she was a cutter and I said my dad's a preacher man. I took her to the boat out down by the lake

I kindly took her by the hand just to make her understand I took her to the boat out down by the lake

And just when everything was said I hugged her hard around her head I told her there are things that we shouldn't say

Now watch me say them

I tore her down today

Everything just goes away but the scars you hide today and you don't want to say
