

No Assembly Required, Last Goodbye

how can we go on everyday living a life that's colored gray? looking inside me one last time finding one reason to stay alive so how would they really know? why would they even care at all?
should we even leave a note?
why does it matter anymore?

it's lost all meaning even when you kiss me alright all my feelings for this life has faded when they left me alone would you follow
me to a new world where i can be yours?
all our memories here will be taken and awakened once more

why would you promise such a life when everything has never been right? how could you leave them all behind?
but why does it matter anymore?

i never got to say goodbye we never got to say goodbye

the feeling has passed i'm leaving at last
i'm seeing the world
speeding behind me
stop holding on
i'm free and gone now
away from the rest of you