No Fun At All, Nothing Personal

I can love you I can hate you But I got to let you go Find a new direction I can love you I can hate you And I got to let you know You won't turn your head When you go

When I think about you Everything changes You you got to go You you got to go You you got to go Try to understand It's nothing presonal When I lose control

I can hear you I can see you And you got to let me know Got to see thing clearly I can hear you I can see you But you got to let me go I won't lose my head When you go
