

No Motiv, God Save

I look around me, a place filled with hate we do what we can with the words that we say in this life time I will never see a place that we can live in compatibly but will there be a turn of the tide will anyone listen to the people who cried is there hope for a world that's so cruel for this I plead,
God save the world!
God save the world!
God save the world!