No Question, Come Back Home

Somebody told you that I've been sleeping around because of this lie, you let somebody come along and tears us down so you've found yourself a brand new lover but you didn't let me know I found out and started going crazy so I had to let you go.

chorus

I can't stand this living alone don't want to come back cause I did you wrong (not sure) if your what love sent in for the first storm darling I love you let me come back home.

I can't stand this living alone don't want to come back home cause I did you wrong (not sure) if your what love sent in for the first storm darling I love you let me come back home.

verse two

Baby I'm the fool but darling you let me down. I know I was wrong for not trusting you, but lady now I'm the clown but wasn't I there when your whole damn family turned their back on you I was nothing on the day I found you and I'm even less not that I don't have you.

bridge

Why didn't you come and talk to me we could have worked things out after all the things we've been through tell me what I'm I suppose to do. (now that you have gone away)I never gave you a reason to doubt it all I know is I can't live without it (no,no,no, won't you come home) (I love you soooooooooo)
