

No Warning, Almost There

Bustin' my ass for far too long.

Trying to even things out.

My life keeps following the same beaten path.

I've seen enough to know what its about.

Everyday I say to myself "tomorrow will be different"

but in reality i have no clue what the fuck i'm doing.

One day i'll cut these ropes for better or for worse.

I know my actions will affect more than me but this is not a first.

I will never sell myself short.