

Noe Venable, Tower

There is an ocean
I have been holding in my hands
There is an ocean
I have been holding back for years
Where I was standing
Now I am rocking to and fro
Will you still love me
After you see this tower come down?

We used to play at
Light as a feather stiff as a board
We used to play at
Listening in to the darker world
Oh how strangely
Applicable those games seem now
Will you still know me
After you see this tower come down?

Girl i've forgotten
How to be brave could you show me how?
Girl I'd forgotten,
Where did you go? I'm lonely now
That's when it struck me
And I rang out just like a bell
She'll be there laughing
In the place where the tower fell

Bricks and mortar
Raining down on the little ones heads
Bricks and mortar
Raining down on the little ones little ones

You will awaken
Your sensuality
You will awaken
It's an eventuality
Here comes an ocean
I've been holding in my hands
Here comes an ocean
I've been holding back for years
