

None More Black, 10 Ton Jiggawatts

If my head could start the argument. You know it would.

Never good at accepting compliments.

That all compliments of me.

Let's go where it might be so quiet, we can hardly breathe.

Expressions never been the easiest. I never. I never want it.

Easier said than done. These days.

When talking takes all the breath out of my exhaustion.

They never got along in the first place. If my heart could spill it out for you.

Don't you know it would. You may never ever get the clue.

That's surely not OK with me.

Let's forget about the present tense and go somewhere new.

Impression's never been the easiest. I never. I never leave 'em.

Do something now. Trendsetter.

Sing something now that will last forever.

Maybe, it will fit in the last place.