NonExist, The Devil Incarnate

the incarnation of evil, a betrayer has been born the king of all deceivers, upon the throne of scorn an enviable position of power, wealth and glory to keep the key to the ignition of the purgatory follow me and you'll succeed my disciples, you're now a part of me you reap what you sow, then you roll the dice how could we ever know that it was the devil in disguise?

the pawns that made the way through this narrow path for how long will they obey once they taste the grapes of wrath? now, this wheel of fortune - it spins too fast for you once it gets in motion there is nothing you can do follow me and you'll succeed my disciples, you're now a part of me

you reap what you sow, then you roll the dice how could we ever know that it was the devil in disguise?

such blindness never seen in the history of man dictators, rulers of their holy lands scapegoat sacrified, gently led to slaughter successor to the throne - the devil's own daughter?