

Nonpoint, Breathe

My head is drowning in a sea of animosity the waves of confusion are crashing over top of me
I'm just trying to survive doing everything I have to just to stay alive
I try to breath but the waters keep on choking me
I try to swim but my arms and legs are killing me
I'm just trying to survive doing everything I have to just to stay alive

I just need sometime so I can breathe
call it what you want to.. still have to do this for me
I just need sometime so I can breath call it what you want to.. still have to do this for me

I'm over it i'm over it
I'm giving up on you I'm over it i'm over it
I'm just trying to survive
But everything I do looks so hopeless on the outside Things I said just to try to make sense
Things I didn't to protect me from the consequence
I'm just trying to survive doing everything I have to, to stay alive this time

I just need sometime so I can breathe
call it what yo want to.. still have to do this for me
I just need sometime so I can breathe call it what you want to.. still have to do this for me