

Nonpoint, When It's Over

i gotta go before i lose my mind i cant explain it or name it this time you bring the lightning and the thunder that I drop and keep complaining that the rain won't stop

I dont wanna waste the life you got fixing all the that just dont work working for the thing that I dont want chasing all the things that i dont want

feels like i don't belong like someone's singing the wrong song who says when it's over (it's over, it's over)

who is the one in control am i the one in control?

you could see that i was losing touch i couldnt say it but you were too much you needed something that i never really had and keep complaining that i always get mad i dont wanna be the one you want doing all the things that piss you off fighting for life that i dont want chasing what I know i just dont want

who is the one in control am i the one in control?

whos the one in control am i the one in control of it all

who is the one in control am i the one in control?
