

Norma Jean, Here We Go Again

Oh well here we go again

Well here we go again making promises and holding hands again

Well how's it gonna end breaking up and making up here we go again

In your world of nights beyond the neon lights

You're gone awhile soon you're back again

I guess it's just your way and I'll have to pay for my doubt oh well here we go again

[el.banjo]

Well my head is in a spin your promises are gone with the wind

Well I guess I'll never win but sink or swim I'll take you in here we go again

You're a man out of vows in this lonely house I'm the one who has to get in

When I think I had enough and I try to get tough you just smile

Oh well here we go again
