

Norma Jean, Promises Promises

You've promised you would be true to me but we both know you could never be
You've been puttin' me on since the day we met
Promises promises that's all I ever get that's all I ever get
Then you promised me a ring a wedding gown and all of them things
But I ain't seen no diamond yet
Promises promises that's all I ever get that's all I ever get
Promises promises that's all I get
All you gave me since the day we met you'll break my heart in two again I bet
Promises promises that's all I ever get that's all I ever get [guitar - steel]
And now you tell me you've gone away you swear to me that this time you'll stay
But I can't believe that I'm rid of you yet
Promises promises that's all I ever get that's all I ever get
Promises promises that's all I get
All you gave me since the day we met you'll break my heart in two again I bet
Promises promises that's all I ever get that's all I ever get
Promises promises that's all I get
All you gave me...
