

Norma Jean, To Get To You

I would walk out of my friends to get to you
If I lose them all for your love I'll do that too
Guess they mean well when they tell me what to do
Oh but they don't know how far I'll go to get to you

Burning bridges behind me to get to you
Breaking all ties that bind me to get to you
I hold your love far above what I go through
I would give all I own for a stepping stone to get to you

If it's the last thing I do I'll get to you
Just because I know just how much you want me to You're the only thing that can bring my world in view
Every breath I take every move I make is to get to you
Burning bridges behind me to get to you...
