

Norma Jean, Your Alibi Called Today

Your alibi called today

It's so good to have you home again honey you had a call while you were away

It was one you weren't expecting honey your alibi called today

Seems he got in town a little early honey and had some things he wanted to say

I said say them to him he's with you isn't he your alibi called today

You'll ever know how I hate these words I'm saying

Though I want you to my pride won't let you stay

I hope you'll never know this feeling honey why did you your alibi called today