

Normal Like You, As Seen On Tv

alone in your escape.
alleviate this sequence.
utilize the option to disregard.
26 inches provoke destruction.
power: on.
kiss your refuge good-bye.

it came to me that monday morning,
the visual display.
a thought had come to mind,
just maybe the television's right.

so be afraid, and assume the role,
succumb to observation.
objects appear closer in the mirrors.
concern is fed to me, and
this querulous digestion furthers me to see i'm paranoid.
so sit inside and snuggle up to safety.
power: on.
let it alter your life.

it came to me that monday morning,
the visual display.
there's nothing here to be afraid of.
the television lies.
believe it, baby, the hype is real.