

Northern Room, This Wreckage

This wreckage that you believe in me
You could bring it back with a gentle scream
'Cos I love you, and I love you
This record that spins away from me
You could send it back in a daylight dream
But I love you, and I love you

I want to see the damage done
I want to see the damage done
I want to see the damage done
I want to live in slow motion

This wreckage that you believe in me
You could bring it back with a gentle scream
But I need you
In heaven they'll take the best of me (yeah)
But if I stand right here could you follow me
'Cos I need you, and I need you

I want to see the damage done
I want to see the damage done
I want to see the damage done
I want to live in slow motion

You will only live this life truly once!
You will only see this light truly once!
You will only taste this sky truly once!
You will only live this life truly once!
