

Northstar, The Accident Underwater

Spread apart on a hospital bed with a purple heart pinned on a fossil that's not quite dead in invincible here mildly invisibly clear from warming up to an old friend just a connoisseur of dirt celebrating my worth.

I can count on one hand useless or not the number is useless things my useless hands have caught fix me medicine
fix me cast
fix me strong so i can last

it got so bright it died.
and blew up all over the inside of my leather white eyes and it just spread all over (x2)
it just spread all over planned out like a chemistry set a dogfight with no means to eject there never taught us about that i bought the world as a gift now it's too heavy to life and that's exactly how i'll leave it this elevation is sick we can go much higher or lower anything is better than this

I can count on one hand useless or not
the number is useless
things my useless hands have caught
fix me medicine
fix me cast
fix me strong so i can last

it got so bright it died.
and blew up all over the inside
of my leather white eyes
and it just spread all over (x2)
it just spread all over