

Nothing To Lose, Three Days Ago

3 days ago

I called up your house but you didn't answer now I'm scared I've done so much wrong that I've lost you forever keeping in mind the times of the past when we were together I know its his plan if were meant to be meant for each other

why did you have to go? my dream had yet come true why must you hurt me so? what did I do to you?
true love had ran it's course it ran straight over me cause when I look at you your hope is gone for you and me

I could have sworn that there was something there a relationship that can't compare the smile on your face that used to be that is all gone now there is no more you and me even if you leave me alone with nothing at all then God will be there He'll be by my side

I guess it worked out for better
