

November Blessing, Storms

We might have friction sometimes and I know I'm a selfish person believe me sweetie i understand completely just know that you make me happy fighting and screaming begin the deep breathing but you know i can't live without you hearts have been broken and we have all spoken we felt love and pain too I walk through storms trust me darling every tear from your eyes started sagging my heart and it starts to soak in I'd rather take death than to hear them fighting and screaming being the deep breathing
but you know i can't live without you
hearts have been broken and we have all spoken
we felt love and pain too
fighting and screaming being the deep breathing
hearts have been broken and we have all spoken
fighting and screaming being the deep breathing
but you know i can't live without you
hearts have been broken and we have all spoken
we felt love and pain too
we might have friction sometimes
and I know I'm a selfish person
believe me sweetie i understand completely
just know that you make me happy