

Now It S Overhead, With A Subtle Look

We started off across a room
Locking eyes and subtle clues.
Connection then devotion grew closer
Than our mothers knew.
It&#039;s hard to fill the middle in.
What triggered cause to the effect.
Suddenly you exited.
With a subtle look we would communicate.
Now all the words we saved return to curse your name.
I&#039;m jumping off this moving ground
Needing just to levitate.
I&#039;m landing now forgetting how.
Your gravity ruins everything.
You fill my head and weigh it down.
My clouded heavy vision sees your arms
Once mine now wrapped around a different boy,
He looks like me.
With a subtle look we would communicate.
Now all the words we saved return to curse your name.