

NRG, Poong Soo Ji Tan

The more I remember, the more its harder to breath
My unforgettable tears...
My debtful love always remains
Its not much of a sad pain
My shoulders that are carrying this burden
They are actually my grateful memories
Since I had much hope and trust, I threw those aside
I just wanna be your love
Its a small expectation but
Its such a difficult dream for me, and even if I know this,
I just wanna be your love
If only my soul was by your side
If only the love that was only received was back by your side..
You comfortably held me, you warmly held me
But my heart that wants to turn that love into happiness hasnt changed
I remember the old memories. They drive me crazy
What should I do about my heart tearing apart
You already left, I cant hold onto you
I love you to death
I would sacrifice my soul for you
You're the one, I always thank you
An awkward yearning tells me I have to leave
It tells me that I cant erase her
It tells me not to show painful expressions on my face
Not to show that we cant be together
I just wanna be your love
Its a small expectation but
Its such a difficult dream for me, and even if I know this,
I just wanna be your love
If only my soul was by your side
If only the love that was only received was back by your side..
I just wanna be your sign
Even if you are in a different place
Someday I will go back and meet you
I just wanna be your sign
The words that I couldnt say to you
I remember that person