

Nu Virgos, Thank You For The Summer

I still remember my carelessness
How I've taken you by the hand with me
Into the ocean of playfulness
How could I believe all you've said to me
I still remember the love of you
Now I'm left alone with my memories
Why was my love not enough for you
How could you let go of your happiness

Thank you for the summer
Thank you for the magic in your eyes
Thank you for the summer
Thank you for the stars across the skies

I still remember my carelessness
There was no such word as my loneliness
Given you all of my tenderness
How could you let go of your happiness

Thank you for the summer
Thank you for the magic in your eyes
Thank you for the summer
Thank you for the stars across the skies
