

Number One Gun, The Time Is Now

So you think you've done it all
And you try so hard
And you try to find so many things tonight
And you thought that you might fall on your face
In time

It's not too late
You'll have your day
Don't be afraid 'cause you're not the same
You'll have your time to realize
And I'll be there right by your side
To see it all

And you can't believe it's happening to you
(you know you have to face it now)
And you try so hard
And you see something that you can't describe
(you know you have to face it now)
You've got that certain look in your eye this time
You think that someone's calling your name
Well isn't it time?
If you've thought that you might fall on your face
Then now is the time
