

Number One Gun, You Fail Sometimes

To see that you fail sometimes
It's the only thing to be
And the truth will unwind
And fall on your tongue

You feel that your gonna be opened up
You think that your gonna see through your heart
You try not to fall on your face
Now is the time to open up

It's good to know that you fail sometimes
You try to see but your right off line

In time I will see that your way
Is the only way to be
It will fall on my mind
That there must be something real
There must be something real

In time I will see
There must be something real