

Nylons, Up on the roof

When this old world starts getting me down And people are just too much for me to take I climb right