

Oceanlab, Breaking Ties (Flow Mix)

Oh when the cold wind blows...
I feel it to the bone.
Oh when you say you know...
I feel I'm not alone...
And even though I may return...
To empty places on my own...
Where I remember everything you want me... to forget...
And you provide the parachute,
But I am falling like a stone...
And I remember there's a life that I have not lived yet.

You and I,
Truth and lies,
I've been fooling myself too long.
You and I,
Breaking ties,
How could we be so right and so wrong?

I hear the words you say...
Your mouth against my skin.
My world just falls away...
You will light me from within...
And even though I may return...
To empty places on my own...
Where I remember everything you want me... to forget...
And you provide the parachute,
But I am falling like a stone...
And I remember there's a life that I have not lived yet.

You and I,
Truth and lies,
I've been fooling myself too long.
You and I,
Breaking ties,
How could we be so right and so wrong?

Truth and lies.

Breaking ties.