

October Nites, Lust At First Sight

Wake up, and open your eyes
Those lips fit best against mine
That smile's tempting
And now I know it's all depending on what I say
To you, and what I do
I could be a nice guy and ask, "why not waste away with me?"
Cause I'm the one that wants to be alone
I'm cuddling back to my bed
With so much left unsaid
And I can't let go
Come now, you're better off letting it all fall out
You stutter up and can't even breathe
And when you're red hot, and red in the face
Hands shake, and you both go weak at the knees
When she's up and down playing the catch you game
You run away, ready to scream
"I don't know what to do
I'm broken in two and I just want to be with you"
Lay down, and close your eyes
Those hips fit best against mine
That dress is tempting
But I don't know if you're pretending you want to stay with me, I guess we'll see
I could buy you pearls and half the world
I'd give you everything
Cause I'm the one that wants to be alone
I'm fumbling back to my feet
It's been a long two weeks
And I can't let go
Come now, you're better off letting it all fall out
You stutter up and can't even breathe
And when you're red hot, and red in the face
Hands shake, and you both go weak at the knees
When she's up and down playing the catch you game
You run away, ready to scream
"I don't know what to do
I'm broken in two and I just want to be with you"
