

October Project, Something More Than This

In the shadow cast as you were leaving
In the beauty of the ending day
There is always something to return to Something you allow
To slip away

In the empty corners of the evening
In the vacant beauty of the wind
There is always something to remember
Something to remember
To begin

I need no shelter
I need no guide
I'll be alone on this long dark ride
Tonight

Whatever you fear
Whatever you hide
Whatever you carry deep inside
There's something more than this

Whatever you love
Whatever you give
Whatever you think you need to live
There's something more than this

In the shadow cast as you were leaving
In the beauty of the ending day
There is always something to believe in Something...
As I watch you slip away

I need no shelter
I need no guide
I'll be alone on this long dark ride
Tonight

Whatever you fear...