

Of The Wand & The Moon, Lost in Emptiness

Lost in emptiness - the serpent's in the heart
Rivers red and deep - to throw me into sleep
Advent of loneliness - to fall into autumn's womb
A cold and vile embrace - as winter leaves her pain

The devil sings along
Winds will gain and gain
The devil sings so long
And all the tears shall pour in vain

Lost in emptiness - in the shadow of your flame
Nothing will heat the wound - nothing will break the curse
This pointless elegy - the dark that covers me
Lost in emptiness - the dark which follows me

The devil sings along
From his golden abyss
The devil sings so long
I've never felt pain like this

Lost in Emptiness