

Officer Negative, Replace Your Hate

The pain controls your anger that's inside
Creating emotional suicide
Your fits of rage killing love of the innocent
Death is your final judgment
You ask yourself "why's your life a living hell?"
When all you do is create your cell
Of violence and arrogance and self-indulgence
Your answer is in God's healing acceptance

Replace your hate
Replace your hate
God loves everyone and God wants to
Replace your hate

You need to know your problems aren't from someone else
Deep down inside you hate yourself
The lies you learned that say you have no self-worth
Are bringing you down to your hurt
There's no escaping the suffering of this pain
With replacing the hate that remains
So give it up, your life of animosity
And receive God's love completely