

Oi Polloi, What Have We Done?

I'm lost for words when I think of the depths to which we sink

Sometimes there just seem to be no depths to which our species will not sink. Surely, in this day and age
Cold death flies from harpoon gun - The sea turns red - What have we done?

A horrific death by harpoon - Scientific research? Blue whales, the largest animals on the Earth, have Poison and kill - We are the ones - See what we do - What have we done?

Not content with exterminating the most intelligent form of marine life, we are also doing a pretty good
